

CALL FOR PAPERS

St.Gallen Workshop on Dynamic Contracts and Learning

The Institute of Economics \(FGN-HSG\) at the University of St.Gallen invites submissions for a workshop on dynamic contracting and learning.

Date: Thursday & Friday, June 27 & 28, 2024.

Location: The square at the University of St.Gallen, Switzerland.

Organizers: Samuel Häfner and Michèle Müller-Itten, University of St.Gallen.

Keynote: Curtis Taylor, Duke University.

The workshop seeks to connect researchers that work on dynamic contracting, strategic attention, and learning theory. We invite submissions on or related to the following topics:

- Dynamic contracts, contracting for information, R&D competition,
- Information design and persuasion,
- Costly Learning and Rational Inattention.

The conference takes place over two days with 14 presentations and no parallel sessions. We plan to fill half of the slots through direct invitation, and half through the open call. The size and format of the conference (including a sightseeing activity in the beautiful city of St. Gallen) is aimed at permitting lively and in-depth discussions and networking.

Submissions: Please submit full papers online at no later than March 1st, 2024. Acceptance notifications will be sent by March 15.

<https://forms.gle/9sy1xPQdQFWtJtCm6>

Funding: Accommodation and local expenses will be covered for all presenting participants. Hotel bookings will be made by the conference organizers. We will do our best to offer a travel allowance, especially to presenters with limited research funds.

Contact: Please send any inquiries to the organizers at workshop.dcl@unisg.ch.